MAN PAYMENT PLAN

KICK THE CREDIT CRUNCH INTO TOUCH WITH OUR EASY PAYMENT SCHEME.

You, the fans, make all the difference at the big games. So we wanted to make it as easy as possible for you to enjoy the game you love as often as you like, even in the current financial climate. That's why the RFL, in association with Premium Credit Services, has introduced the 14th Man Payment Plan. With the 14th Man you can spread the cost of all this year's big matches over four easy to manage monthly payments via direct debit, instead of one big lump sum up front. There's no limit to the number of tickets you can buy and all that's added on is a small arrangement fee*.

And it couldn't be easier to apply. Simply complete the order form on page 30 and post it to RFL Ticketing, Red Hall, Red Hall Lane, Leeds LS17 8NB. See you at the big game!

*4% of the ticket prices or £15, whichever is greater.

RESPECT

RESPECT is the RFL's code of good behaviour, which ensures Rugby League offers a suitable and safe environment for participants and spectators. Rugby League is a family game. Please RESPECT everyone involved, including match officials, coaches, players and spectators. Bad language, harassment and aggressive behaviour will not be tolerated.

RFL BENEVOLENT FUND

Today, the advanced treatment and technology available to players at the top level means that career ending injuries are rare, and serious injuries causing permanent damage such as paralysis are pretty much unheard of in the professional game. Yet such incidents do occasionally happen in the amateur game, and there are some players who have suffered serious injury and whose career and quality of life have suffered as a result. That's why the RFL Benevolent Fund was set up, to help with the rehabilitation of seriously injured players and to enhance the quality of life of ex-players for whom rehabilitation is no longer a realistic option.

The Benevolent Fund holds regular fundraising events and £1 from every Carnegie Challenge Cup Final and engage Super League Grand Final ticket sold is also donated to this important initiative.

It's a kind of MAGIC

This May, Rugby League's Magic Weekend heads north to the beautiful city of Edinburgh.

Many Rugby League fans will have fond memories of the Scottish capital from the last top-class game that was played at Murrayfield, the Challenge Cup Final in 2002. And the Magic Weekend promises to bring even more top class Rugby League action to the city.

What's more, with the engage Super League now extended to 14 clubs, there will also be an extra game taking place at this year's event. The fixtures were decided by a draw which placed the clubs into three groups based on their finishing position in the table last season.

For a full rundown on the weekend plus info on travel and accommodation, visit www.themagicweekend.co.uk

48 hours in Edinburgh

A CAPITAL DAY OUT

Another exciting element for Magic Weekend fans is the chance to explore a new city. Invariably voted one of the favourite destinations for visitors to the UK, Edinburgh offers a bigger and better all-round experience. In between the rugby you can check out incredible sights like Edinburgh Castle, The National Galleries of Scotland and Edinburgh Zoo. Shop till you drop on Princes Street, George Street and The Grassmarket. Or indulge in fine food and drink at some of the Scottish capital's many and varied restaurants and bars. And with a hugely expanded matchday entertainment programme too in and around Murrayfield Stadium, you'll be totally spoilt for choice. It's going to be magic!

The Mascot Highland Games

Our 14 club mascots will be competing in their very own contest this Magic Weekend...

As well as 7 intense matches to look forward to at the Magic Weekend, our club mascots will take part in the hotly contested Mascot Highland Games. The prize at stake? The undisputed title of Mascot Champion 2009 of course!

As with the other games taking place on the pitch, there's a few big rivals keen to show each other who's boss. Will Ronnie the Rhino get one over on his old adversary Bullman? And how will JT the Castleford Tiger fare against Wakefield's Cool Cat?

In fact, with those dark glasses, won't they find it hard to see where they're going? It's anyone's guess who'll come top between Airlie Bird and Rufus the Robin – but if either get off to a flying start, then anything's possible.

The most exciting match up of the day though, may be two dragons fighting fire with fire, as George the Knight's (the England team mascot) fiery friend has a heated confrontation with Drago the Catalans Dragon. And of course, we shouldn't forget Super Sid the Savings Pig, the mascot of Super League sponsors engage. Sid is an unknown quantity, and pigs are not renowned for their athletic prowess. But rumour has it that a few of our mascots have some cheeky tricks up their sleeve, which should make the Mascot Highland Games a hilarious spectacle not to be missed.

May the best man – or beast – win!

AWESOME Wembley

The home of the Carnegie Challenge Cup Final, the new Wembley Stadium, is truly a state-of-the-art sports arena and entertainment facility.

Whichever way you approach Wembley, you can't fail to notice the difference in the new stadium. Whether it's the spectacular arch or the revamped underground station, a lot has changed. From the fantastic view from your seat (with more legroom than the old Royal Box) to the retractable roof, everything at Wembley is bigger and better. Designed so that the pitch is open to the elements, the roof can be closed during bad weather to keep spectators dry. Acoustics-wise, the roof 'throws' sound towards the pitch, so your vocal encouragement could have an even greater influence.

All the bars on the concourses are named after iconic years in Wembley's history. Of particular interest for Rugby League fans are the two bars recalling the sport's defining moments here. On the Level One concourse there is the 1994 bar, called 'The Rugby League Challenge Cup Final - The Greatest Ever Try'. Surrounding the bar area are images of Martin Offiah's legendary try during the Wigan v Leeds Challenge Cup final that year. On Level 5, the '1929 - The First Rugby League Challenge Cup' bar, has images of the first Cup final at Wembley between Wigan and Dewsbury.

THE ARCH

The arch is the longest single span roof structure in the world. Its top is fitted with an aircraft warning beacon and it's wide enough for a train to fit through!

THE ROOF

The new roof covers over 11 acres. It's moveable, allowing the elements in to benefit the pitch, or to shelter the crowd.

THE SEATING

With 90,000 seats, Wembley is the largest covered seating stadium in the world.

THE PITCH

Nearly 2.5 acres of turf was used to create the playing surface with an estimated two million blades of grass on the pitch.

THE VISUALS

Every seat in the stadium has an unobstructed view of the pitch. But for a closer look, the giant screens are the size of 600 televisions!

THE ROYAL BOX

Still situated on the north side, there are now 107 steps to reach the Royal Box. It can take up to five minutes for teams to reach the top, but it's worth it!

THE DIMENSIONS

Wembley encloses 4,000,000m² inside its walls and under its roof. That's the equivalent of 25,000 double-decker buses!

THE CIRCUMFERENCE

Fancy a stroll around the stadium? Bring your walking boots - it's 994 metres! The indoor concourses are as wide as a dual carriageway too.

THE ROOMS

There are 2,618 toilets, more than any other building in the world. There are also 20 first aid rooms, four dressing rooms (two home, two away), 30 escalators and 26 lifts.

HEAD
JAMIE PEACOCK
Our ultimate player needs to be a leader who can think for his team-mates and also go head first where others fear to tread. Leeds' fearless prop would be the perfect choice then.

SHOULDERS
BEN WESTWOOD
For hard graft, and power allied to skill, you needn't look much further than Warrington's second row forward, who has shone in an underachieving side this season.

SHOULDERS
GARETH ELLIS
For defensive strength, a bit of Leeds' versatile forward's power and muscle would be a welcome attribute for any top Rugby League player.

TORSO
JAMES GRAHAM
When playing at the top level of an impact sport like Rugby League, a cast iron upper body is essential. And if you happen to run into this young prop, you know you've been hit.

ARMS
KEIRON CUNNINGHAM
The Saints' hooker is a force of nature, and many a player would surely give their left arm to have his tank-like force and brilliant distribution.

HANDS
GEORGE CARMONT
Whether he's using them for distribution, offloading, catching kicks under pressure or making yards in possession, Wigan's Samoan centre has two of the best hands in the business.

FEET
SCOTT DONALD
Power is only truly explosive when allied to pace, and the Aussie wing man has bags of both. His speed and his sidesteps make him truly world class.

FEET
ADE GARDNER
The competition's top try scorer didn't become Saints' chief scoring weapon without jet-heeled boots that leave defenders trailing in his wake.

ARMS
MATT GIDLEY
In Rugby League you need the kind of arms that can stop a train, and they also need to be accurate enough to make pinpoint passes. Saints' centre ticks those boxes admirably.

LEGS
CLINT GREENSHIELDS
The Catalans full-back has the kind of levers that never stop pumping away, helping him to achieve an incredible amount of metres with the ball.

KEVIN SINFEILD
When kicking goals, your feet may be the first point of contact, but it's your legs that give you power and direction. Few have more skilful or powerful ones than the Rhinos skipper.

HANDS
LEON PRYCE
The engage Super League's top offloader seems to have a knack of finding a team-mate with the ball even when he's the subject of close attention from several opposition defenders.
